International Partnerships and Education for Sustainable Development

Teacher Education in Motion

Friday, March 11, 2016, 3.30 - 6.30 pm
University of Teacher Education, Zurich

What does a desirable future look like? What do teachers need on their professional paths in order to move in this direction? This event offers contributions on international concepts of ESD and sheds light on the related potential of partnerships between Swiss and Southern/Eastern countries' teacher education institutions. The question of what partnerships and ESD can contribute to the development of teachers' professional competencies will be in focus.
